ENFIELD APPRENTICES' NEWSLETTER.

EDITORIAL.

Since the last Newsletter, Apprentices have been issued with their badges. The idea for badges came about during a discussion at the Dinner between Major Mountford and Apprentices.

Now that you have been given them, let's see you wearing them on your overall pockets.

So far there have been no suggestions for a carnival tableau. Please try a little harder. If you have any ideas hand them into the Jig & Tool Drawing Office.

NEWS.

Most Apprentices will know that John Taylor has taken the post of Rate Fixer since Mr. R. Andrew left.

John returned to the Apprentice Scheme after a long illness two years ago, and has been working on Jig & Tool design since then.

For two weeks in early July, 'Spike' Spalding was away in Scotland on manoeuvres with the Territorial Army (What an excuse for an extra two weeks holiday)....

Absent also at about the same time was John Rafferty
